A: You need to do an intersection for that: function removeIgnored(list, ignore) { return list.filter(o =>!ignore.contains(o)); } Your find doesn't really make much sense either: function find(list, find_item) { return list.find(o => o === find_item); } This won't work: find(array, 1); // will never get called That's because javascript does not have this kind of find. array.find will look for an item in an array and return the matching element. If it cannot
